

Blood Cancer Network Ireland symposium

“Blood Cancer Research: Focus on immunotherapy and the tumour microenvironment”

Friday, 8th June 2018

Venue: Richard Carmichael Lecture Theatre, Beaumont Hospital, Dublin

CONFIRMED GUEST SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

- Philippe Moreau, University Hospital of Nantes, France
- Martin Pule, University College London and Autolus
- Maria Mateos, University Hospital of Salamanca, Spain
- Gert Ossenkoppele, VU University Medical Center, Amsterdam, Netherlands
- Marieke Essers, Heidelberg Institute for Stem Cell Technology and Experimental Medicine, Germany

Call for Abstracts:

Abstracts in the areas of drug discovery, immunotherapy and the tumour microenvironment may be submitted for posters or selected for an oral presentation at the symposium. Abstracts should be submitted as a Word Document and should not exceed 350 Words (excluding: Abstract Title/Authors/References – Tables and graphs are not permitted). All abstracts should be emailed to Sinead Cassidy on: sinead@sineadcassidy.com All abstract submissions will receive an acknowledgement email from Sinead.

DEADLINE FOR ABSTRACTS extended to 21st May 2018!!

This Symposium is open to national and international researchers, clinicians, nurses, scientists and industry personnel with an interest in clinical and translational blood cancer research. A draft program and registration forms may be downloaded on: www.bloodcancers.ie/bloodcancers/newsevents/. Registration forms should be emailed to Sinead Cassidy on sinead@sineadcassidy.com - Registration cost: €50.00